DIRECTOR'S CORNER

Hello Lansing Community Members,

I wanted to let you know that changes are coming to the building and our website. As you may have already noticed the library is a little dusty! We have started a new building project. The library is replacing its twenty-year-old HVAC system. This means that the library is going to be a little messy and maybe a little chilly for the next few months. We hope to finish the project by mid-December, but there are always hiccups during the process that could delay completion of the project. Unfortunately, we may have to close the library for a couple of days, and we have to cancel the November and December concerts. I know that this may be a disappointment to many of you, but we are trying our best to minimize any inconvenience for our patrons. For updates, please feel free to call the library at 708-474-2447 or check our website at www.lansingpl.org.

We are also working with a company to build a new website that will help people of all abilities access and use our website. It is important to the library, to our community, and under the law, that the access and use of our website should meet ADA accessibility requirements. This new website will ensure that we meet all the needs of our residents. We may have some downtime but you can always reach us through email or with a phone call. Both of these projects are necessary to improve the condition of the library space and its service to all its patrons. Thank you in advance for your patience and we look forward to seeing you at the library!

Lisa Korajczyk
Library Director
